Raw Loofah

Our raw loofah is supplied in its natural, unprocessed form, tightly compressed into export-grade bales as shown in the images. Each bale contains high-quality loofah fibers with natural variations in size, texture, and density—exactly as harvested from the farm. This format is ideal for factories, workshops, and brands that process or cut loofah according to their own product specifications. We offer full flexibility, providing samples upon request and tailoring bale selection to meet your required quality level, fiber length, or density.

Bulk compressed bales

Oval / Baby Loofah

This small, kid-friendly loofah is crafted from soft natural fibers, offering gentle and safe exfoliation for delicate skin. Its oval shape provides an easy, comfortable grip for both children and parents, making bath time smoother and more enjoyable. Designed with the smallest mold in our collection, it ensures mild cleansing without causing irritation—ideal for baby care brands and family bath sets.

Use:

Gentle exfoliation suitable for kids.

Glove (Kaf) Loofah

This natural loofah glove is designed in a standard adult size, offering effective exfoliation for daily shower use. Its sturdy fiber texture helps remove dead skin cells while stimulating circulation, leaving the skin refreshed and smoother. With a comfortable 16 × 20 cm fit, it provides a secure grip and full hand coverage, making it ideal for personal care routines, spa products, and retail body scrub collections.

Use:
Body scrub for adults

Padded (Glove) Loofah

This upgraded loofah glove comes with an inner padded layer, providing extra firmness, added comfort, and better control during use. Its slightly larger 16 × 22 cm size offers improved hand coverage, making exfoliation smoother and more efficient. The reinforced structure enhances scrubbing performance without causing discomfort, making it ideal for customers seeking a more supportive and premium exfoliating experience.

Use:

Enhanced exfoliation with extra support.

ROW LOOFAH BALES

Raw Loofah Bales are carefully harvested and naturally dried to preserve their original fiber strength and purity. Each bale contains high-quality, unprocessed loofah sponges, offering excellent durability and strong exfoliating performance. The dense, natural fiber structure ensures effective cleansing while maintaining skin comfort, making them ideal for manufacturing, bulk processing, or customized cutting and shaping. Perfect for businesses seeking a reliable, eco-friendly, and premium raw material for exfoliating and personal care products.

Use:

Enhanced exfoliation with extra support.

HEART LOOFAH

Heart Loofah combines gentle exfoliation with an elegant, eye-catching design. Crafted from high-quality natural fibers, its heart shape offers comfortable grip and balanced control during use. The soft yet effective texture helps remove dead skin cells while maintaining a pleasant, spa-like experience. Designed for both performance and presentation, it adds a premium touch to personal care routines, making it perfect for customers seeking functionality with a charming aesthetic appeal.

Use:

Enhanced exfoliation with extra support.

Finger Glove LOOFAH

Finger Glove Loofah is designed for precise exfoliation and enhanced control during use. Its ergonomic finger-fit shape allows better grip and targeted scrubbing, making it ideal for hard-to-reach areas and detailed cleansing. Crafted from durable natural fibers, it effectively removes dead skin cells while remaining comfortable on the skin. The flexible structure ensures ease of movement and improved handling, making it a practical and premium choice for customers seeking both accuracy and performance in their exfoliating routine.
